

Louis C. King

Assistant Inspector General
for Financial and Information Technology Audits

AS ASSISTANT INSPECTOR GENERAL FOR FINANCIAL AND INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY AUDITS, MR. KING is responsible for providing executive-level leadership and direction to OIG's audits of DOT's information technology (IT) and security and financial statements and management; he also has oversight of single audits that relate to the Department's programs.

Mr. King came to OIG as an IT Program Director. In that capacity, he directed audits of DOT's information security program and practices, as required by the Federal Information Security Management Act of 2002, and of specific Department information systems and functions. He assumed this position in April 2008, after a decade at the Department of Treasury OIG, where he served as Senior Auditor and Contracting Officer's Representative for Financial Audits and later as Director of Financial Audits. In that role, Mr. King was responsible for directing multiple financial statement audits of Treasury's components. In 2003, he became the Treasury OIG's Director of IT Audits.

Previously, Mr. King spent nearly a decade at the Government Accountability Office—overseeing, managing, and conducting financial statement and management audits. His auditees included Capitol Hill entities, the Department of Defense, and several Government corporations, such as the Export-Import Bank.

Mr. King is a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico in San Juan, where he earned a B.B.A. in accounting and in computerized information systems. He is a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), a Certified Information Systems Auditor (CISA), a Certified Management Accountant (CMA), Certified in Financial Management (CFM), and a Certified Government Financial Manager (CGFM).
