In this fraud scheme, a contractor misrepresents the results of quality control tests to earn contract incentives falsely or to avoid production shutdown in order to increase profits or limit costs.

The tests are mostly right... Nobody will know....

Quality Control Testing

In this fraud scheme, a contractor misrepresents the results of quality control tests to earn contract incentives falsely or to avoid production shutdown in order to increase profits or limit costs.

Recognize and Report Fraud in Federally Funded Programs, Contracts, and Grants

(800) 424-9071

U.S. Department of Transportation
Office of Inspector General
Selected “Red Flag” Indicators of Quality-Control Testing

✓ Contractor insisting on transporting quality control (QC) samples from the construction site to the lab
✓ Contractor not maintaining QC samples for later quality assurance (QA) testing
✓ Contractor challenging results or attempting to intimidate QA inspectors who obtain conflicting results
✓ Photocopies of QC test results where originals are expected
✓ Alterations or missing signatures on QC test results
✓ Contractor employees regularly taking or labeling QC samples away from inspector oversight
✓ Laboratory test reports are identical to sample descriptions and test results, varying only date and lot number tested
✓ Test results cannot be found or have been destroyed
✓ Test results are lost then “found” after delay

Contact OIG using any of the following methods:

Online complaint form: www.oig.dot.gov/dot-oig-hotline-complaint-form
Telephone: (800) 424-9071
Fax: (704) 556-0732
E-mail: hotline@oig.dot.gov
Mail: USDOT Inspector General
      1200 New Jersey Ave. S.E., Room W73-104A
      Washington, DC 20590

Note: The OIG Hotline is obligated to expeditiously forward all safety-related complaints to USDOT’s safety regulatory agencies for action, as appropriate.